COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The Assessor's have two more meetings scheduled with appraisal firms. They will then be prepared to make determinations on the specifications they would like in an agreement made with the concern they choose to do the work. It is expected all the property in town will be revalued in time for the 1976 tax bills.

Town officials are investigating the possibility of leasing a parcel of land for sand and gravel. If proper terms can be resolved, a long term lease will be sought.

The town has now applied for an additional person through the C. E. T. A. program. This will make a total of five if approval is given. Four will be to work outside doing general maintenance and one will be utilized in the office. Over the last two years there has been a great amount of work done on all the road layouts and discontinuances. The information has been filed but not compiled into good working records. It will be time consuming to get these in order and type them for future use. They will be an invaluable source of information.

Mrs. Mary Tibbetts Freeman will present a paper on early New England gardens with particular reference to the Bethel area. This will be followed by a film "Flower Arrangement at Colonial Williamsburg" which features gardening in a more southern environment. All members and the interested public are urged to attend.

The Society has recently received a number of articles from Mrs. Ruth Carver Ames. Among them are several household items including a stenciled tea caddy and coffee canister, a framed portrait of E. C. Rowe, prominent Bethel businessman, an original copy of the 1878 map of Bethel, and a framed photograph of the E. C. Rowe home (now the home of Kimball and Ruth Ames) c. 1890. The Society is most grateful for these particularly fine additions to its collection.

As the opening date of June 15 nears, thoughts are now upon certain gaps that still remain in the furnishing of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Much progress has been made in less than a year, but the Society needs the following: andirons, candlesticks, a hutch cupboard, early American bedroom mirrors, and a dry sink. District 44 Annual Budget Meeting Again Postponed

At their regular meeting on Monday evening of this week, held at the Telstar Auditorium, the board of directors of M. S. A. D. #44 adopted and approved a warrant for a District Budget Meeting. The warrant provided for the district meeting to be held on April 29, to comply with then existing requirements that district meetings be held before the end of April. Board approval of the warrant, also included the authorization to Supt. Basil Kinney not to post the warrants if information was received Tuesday (April 22) extending the deadline for budget approval.

On Tuesday morning the Department of Educational and Cultural Services informed the superintendent's office that the deadline had been extended indefinitely pending resolution of state subsidy funding problems for the next biennium.

Gov. Longley presented to the Legislature on Tuesday morning several options by which the financial shortfall at the State level might be remedied. Included were provisions to have one-half of the State's share of teacher retirement paid by the local school units, reduce state payments to units from the present 50% to 45% or 40%, and a repeal of LD 1094, the "landmark" legislation effective a year ago, that was enacted to lessen dependence on the property tax as a means to support public education in the state.

Currently there has been no date set for a district budget meeting, as completion of deliberations by the Legislature in Augusta is awaited. This is the fourth delay of the annual meeting, customarily held in February.

In other business Monday evening, Mrs. Patricia Hudson, Bethel, Philip Morales and Gerald Schachter of Andover, were named as the board's members of a committee, to study with Telstar faculty representatives and administrators such problems as may exist at Telstar Regional High School.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colleta Morgan, Corres. —

Much of our old snow is gone. The dead spears of grass stand out, widening tussocks are in view as well as the bare hill tops. As the snow vanishes the simplicity of landscape disappears. The eyes wander over the fields and hills to look for the variegations of uncovered browns and retreating white.

The ice in the pond has begun to leave but still much of it lies inactive, an obstinate nugget of winter. The thinning changes color with its depth, vagaries of temperature and sky reflection. It may at one time be glassy white, milk-onyx white, a grayness of mush snow or darkening to another strange color.

An old saying is that the frost is never out of the ground until the ice is out of the pond. My only walk outside of the main road this week was to the farm fields which at that time were still winterish.

April has been a month of raw winds and unwelcome snow; a month of weather which has gradually tempered as the weeks slip away.

Today, I noticed something which gave me real hope for there was a south wind; the clouds moved north, a summer look and a summer character. The robins worked busily on the lawn and along the roadside.

April rain is but a promise. Of spring's beauty and delight, So enjoy its silver goodness, Before it fades from sight.

LaVerne P. Larson

Down the hillsides come the fast running creeks carrying with them the melting snow but the ground is still hard and frozen. The falling, gliding, tossing water, rejoices as it pours down another incline and out over ledges, or through shaggy fringes of bushes; from shadow to shadow then into sunshine and on to the meadows. With its dripping, trickling, oozing; it seeks its way year after year and supplies water for ferns and plants giving freshness and beauty as it becomes a pathless wanderer.

The ducks came this morning and flopped down with a violet splash; agile, graceful, necks curved, nervously watching while the water was V-ing out behind. No doubt they were tired from a long journey but seemed happy to be in this place which was the heart of silence and peace. So with the return of the ducks, sparrows, a few swallows, and the robins I hope the gray ledges, rusty junipers, the sodden pasture lifted and huddled by the frost tell us that the six months of winter are over and done with. May there now be April mornings with sunshine and southern breezes bringing the sweet Maine odors of young willows, spicy pines and new earth. Spring, like autumn, is a season for bypaths and side roads where one may ponder, see, hear, feel the uniqueness that is common to our lives. I look forward to them. Spring, a painting of hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Franze Mills of Shapleigh, were Sunday callers at Clyde Morgan's.

Mrs. Helen Chojnacki, who was a recent patient at Norway Hospital is also better.

Mrs. Leonas Holt and Mrs. Robert Holt, Windsor, were in Bangor one day to see David Holt, who was a patient at the hospital. He was able to be at home for the week end.

The Betts family are here at their cottage for a few days.

On the Job With Emily

Week of April 14-18

This past week has been one of the liveliest and most controversial of the current session. The matter receiving most attention was the bill to raise the minimum drinking age to 20 years. The bill bounced back and forth between Senate and House. At week's end the House had voted to indefinitely postpone the bill, after the Senate, which strongly favors the measure, had passed it. The next step will be a conference between the Houses, which may result in an attempt to compromise at 19 years. Rep. Saunders' mail was very heavy on this issue, most people favoring raising the drinking age, and she reflected this sentiment in her votes.

The child abuse bill, which the Human Services Committee has worked on at length, was passed by both House and Senate last week, with the word "suspect" included. (See last week's column) because the bill was passed by April 18, Maine is now in compliance for federal funding, already being used by the state for its Child Protective Services program.

Clerk of the House Ed Pert has begun a new program to acquaint high school students with state government. Program plans are to place students in the staff positions of House Clerks under the direct supervision of Sergeant at Arms Frank Wood. Each student will have the same responsibilities as regular staff, but will be on the job only two days. Learning experiences, such as meetings with constitutional officers, attending hearings, and discussions with local representatives will augment the work day experience. Participants will be chosen by local school administrators, and will be paid $20 per day. Meals, travel and accommodations are the responsibility of the student. Emily hopes to involve local students in this.

One of Emily's extra duties recently has been assisting in the plans for "Welcome Back Day" for former legislators to be held on Wednesday, April 30.

Donna Thibodeau, Director of the Maine State American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, presented a flag to the Speaker of the

South Woodstock

Olive Davis, Corres.

The smelting season is on. Smelt nets are being seen on many cars. The snow seems to have evaporated and the tree swallows have arrived from the south. As they are insect feeders it must be the bugs are coming out or they wouldn't be here. We should be hearing the frogs and geese before long.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks attended the 100th anniversary of Rumford Grange Saturday. Other Grangers from Franklin Grange were Verne Swan, Stephen Seames, Charlotte Cole, Ruby Emery, Ethel MacKenzie. They had a very successful anniversary.

Franklin Grange No. 124 is observing their anniversary on April 26.

Tommy Demarest, Camden, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Demarest last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilbur Jr., and two girls and Gilman Tuell spent the week end in Nauvauk, Conn., where they visited Mr. Tuell's daughter, Mrs. Gilda Hill and son Jeffrey, returning Sunday night.

The Willing Workers will meet at the reception rooms at the bank in West Paris on Thursday evening, April 24. Every one is urged to attend for that is the only way things can be done efficiently. They need your help as there are questions to be decided.

House on April 18, and provided all House members with information summarizing the programs planned by Maine communities in conjunction with the Bicentennial. The list of currently recognized Bicentennial communities did not include any of the towns in District 63, although 53 towns in Maine are on the list, having formed local committees and submitted plans for Bicentennial projects and activities.

Emily continues to receive questionnaires. Sound off on issues that concern you, either by clipping the questionnaire from the Citizen of April 10, or just writing a note giving your opinion on the drinking age, returnable bottles, oil refineries, revenues, etc. Mail to Rep. Emily Saunders, Bethel, Maine.

NEWS FROM THE BETHEL NAZARENE CHURCH

It is nearing the end of the church year at the Church of the Nazarene. It is a busy time for officers and the pastor as they prepare their reports for the annual church meeting and General Assembly.

Last Wednesday the pastor started a class for all those interested in learning the general rules, government, and purpose of the church. Although primarily to help those intending to become members, this class is open to anyone who wants to learn more about the church.

The Christian Service Training Course (CST) on "God's Spirit in Today's World" is held at the same time for those already members.

Following these classes a short prayer service was held and then election of officers for the NWMS (Missionary Society) for the next year. The president is elected at the general meeting to be held April 27. It was decided that the Vice President would be the one not elected president from the two nominees, Mary Cobb and Geraldine Shimamura. Other officers elected are as follows: John Mills, secretary-treasurer; Jim Cobb, Study Director; Lorraine Mills, Publicity Secretary; Joyce Stearns, membership secretary; Roberta Morin, Box work; Ersel Murphy, Prayer and Self-Denial; and Thelma Merrill, World Missions.

Elected annually by ballot by members of the society these 10 NWMS officers plus chapter chairman, junior and youth supervisor and pastor constitute the local NWMS council.

On Sunday evening the District Superintendent, Rev. Shankel, visited the church, gave the message, and then took care of several business matters pending that needed his attention. It is always a treat to have the District Superintendent visit and he visits at least once a year, all of the churches in his district.

NOTE:
Without getting into the relative merits of bus/bus garage and pupil transportation safety versus staff reduction and transfer of faculty through implementation of seniority, it should be pointed out that the proposed FY 76 SAD 44 budget lists two 20-passenger buses (one a replacement) at $9,000 each and $13,616 for a bus garage (for 12 months of a 60-month lease-purchase plan for lease payment and operating expenses). jkb

FIFTY GLASTONBURY, CONNECTICUT FAMILIES, ACTING AS "FISHERMEN OF MAN," OPENED THEIR HOMES TO RUNAWAY YOUTHS IN A PROGRAM KNOWN AS "NET".

A LIBRARY IS A TREASURE HOUSE

Did you and your family have "library habit" when you were young?

We did. Every week Mother took my brothers and me to our neighborhood branch library.

We would spend about an hour for each visit, sampling a book here and there, and finally making the difficult choice of which two or three books looked like the best prospects for that week's reading.

Not surprisingly, we are all book-lovers to this day.

When did you last visit your local public library? I hope it was quite recently. Otherwise you may be missing out on one of the best and least expensive leisure resources in your community.

The public library is a veritable treasure house of wonderful things to see, read, and do.

First, of course, come the books. They come in all sizes and colors, and they can expand your knowledge, entertain you, and fill your leisure hours in the library itself or at home.

There are many kinds of reference books which are available for use on the premises: encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases, series collections on such varied subjects as history, music, art, etc.

Most libraries have sections on investing, estate planning and trusts, law for laymen, real estate law, and so on.

Next are the periodicals, and their range and variety will depend to a certain extent on the size of the town you live in. Most libraries carry some magazines and the local paper plus a few papers from neighboring communities.

Almost invariably, they will have children's publications, too, as well as a few craft or mechanical arts magazines, so you know that if you take a young grandchild along to the library with you, he or she will find something of interest, too.

The central library of most cities carries current telephone books of many major cities; the yellow pages are the stuff from which dreams are often made. They list embassies, consulates, agencies, and associations of all kinds.

Reference librarians are mines of information on all kinds of subjects. For the most part, they delight in searching out or helping you search out the answer to a perplexing question. You can seldom stump a good one.

You may be surprised to know that many libraries have regular showings of art, book exhibits, weekly book review talks open to all, sometimes weekly lectures on subjects of local interest. Their purpose is to provide what their clients want, so they are always open for suggestions.

For those of you who are far away from any library, nowadays the library may come to you via a Bookmobile.

with their cargo of books, spend a day or half a day, giving anyone an opportunity to check out and return books and browse among them a bit.

If you want a book that is not on the Bookmobile or at the Main Library ask your librarian and she can search and find it either from the State Library or in a neighboring library. The interlib-rary loan system is working more and more every day. Only a phone call away.

Going to the library is another of those hobbies one can do alone. It is also a great way to "neighbor." Take a neighbor with you next time you make a trip to your local library. You'll both enjoy it.

proven new school district budget, presented by the superintendent and recently approved by the school board.

This budget includes buying two new school buses at $18,000 each, and purchase of a building for maintenance of all the buses at $32,500, a total of nearly $50,000. Yet, I have read in your paper that 8 or so teachers are being released after this school year and some others being shifted into areas outside their training, in order to meet budget restrictions.

I wonder if the voters of this district really think that buses are more important than teachers. To have a good quality teaching staff, we need to treat the teachers with dignity and respect. The wear and tear on buses can be repaired and buses rebuilt, if necessary in the cold, but the damage to the people who are those dealing directly with our children, is very slow to repair, if at all. What do the voters think?

Sincerely,
Thomas A. Fadner

To the Editor:

I am very disturbed with the recent removal of Mr. Fiske from the high school science department.

I am presently enrolled at the University of Maine at Orono, my major is Chemical Engineering. In my studies I am constantly using the basics that I was taught so well by one of the best, if not the best high school science departments in the state. Most of my classmates are Math, Science oriented, but I have a better understanding of the basic concepts than any of them. Last year, my freshman year, I had a definite advantage because I knew the basics, especially in Chemistry, taught to me by Mr. Fiske, and in Physics taught to me by Mr. Kersey and Mr. Fiske.

I do not want to limit myself to the science department, the math department is definitely one of the best, but the change in the math department is not as devastating as the change in the science department.

I believe Mr. Fiske and Mr. Kersey are the best team of science teachers in the state, or maybe even a much larger area.

Almost all of my classmates graduated in the top 5 per cent of their class, I was not even in the top third of my high school class, but because Mr. Fiske, Mr. Kersey, the rest of the science department, and the math department were far superior to those of other high schools I am able to stay even or ahead of my classmates.

It might be best for the budget to move Mr. Fiske from the science to math department, but I believe it is grossly unfair to deprive future students of the science department that has helped me so much. I think the students and their parents should do everything in their power to keep Mr. Fiske in the science department, because that is where he belongs, for the good of all.

TOWN OF GREENWOOD - Anyone wishing to burn in the Town of Greenwood is reminded that it is necessary to secure a written burning permit in order to use a fire for purposes of clearing land or burning logs, stumps, roots, brush, slash, fields of dry grass and pastures. These permits may be secured in person from Raymond A. Seames, Town Forest Fire Warden. Because of a change in the regulations of the Bureau of Forestry it is no longer possible to obtain a permit by telephone.

WING - BERRYMENT

The Bryant Pond Universalist Church was the setting for the wedding on March 22 of Miss Terry Lou Berryment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berryment and Richard Keith Wing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wing. Joseph Perham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Susan Hathaway was organist and Leland Poland, cousin of the groom, soloist. Easter lilies decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of imported Taiwan silk, fashioned with a ruffled Victorian neckline and all over lace, fitted sleeves with a pearl trim. The lace yoke was edged with a narrow lace ruffle having the same beaded motif as the sleeves and neckline. A ribbon sash at the empire waistline supported the flowing floor length flared skirt which was edged in matching lace. Her three tiered cathedral length veil fell from a Juliette band of satin and matching lace. She carried a cascading fashion colonial bouquet of Easter lilies, pink, white and yellow daisy poms and pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Karen Berryment, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow checkered velvet volle dress. The long fitted sleeves, mandarin collar with lace yoke, and cinched waistline were edged in lace. The full flowing skirt was supported at the waist by a narrow band which was edged in matching lace.

The bridesmaids, Miss Kelly Wing, sister of the groom, Mrs. Terry Howard and Mrs. Vicki Foster wore identical gowns as the maid of honor except in pink. The flower girl, Tina Signoretti, was attired in a yellow dress identical to the maid of honor. The attendants' gowns were made by the brides mother, Mrs. Margaret Berryment.

The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white daisy poms and baby's breath edged with yellow lace and yellow and white checkered flowing streamers. The bridesmaids bouquets were the same, only in pink. The flower girl carried a white basket of yellow and white daisy poms and streamers to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wing

Perry Ryerson was best man and Gilman Tuell, Richard Foster, Timmy Poland, and Todd Poland performed the ushering duties. Mitchell Berryment, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Woodstock Gym, which was decorated with white, pink, blue and yellow streamers and white wedding bells. The gift table was tended by Mary Ellen Andrews and Roberta Crouteau. In charge of the food table was Tommy Poland, assisted by Judy Bean, Carla Morgan, Joan Poland and Sherry Poland. The punch was dipped by Genneth Berryment, aunt of the bride and Jane Harper. The wedding cake was cut and served by Beverly Dean.

The bride and groom are both 1973 graduates of Telstar Regional High School. The bride is employed by Dr. Charles Hall of South Paris and the groom by Gladding Paris also of South Paris. Following a short wedding trip to New Hampshire, they are residing on Barrows Street, South Paris.

No one had mentioned the fact that the line zig-zagged past the tent before one can enter it. With a two hour wait ahead of the group, it seemed best to simply pull out of the line and return home. Would you stand in a cold breezy line for 3 1/2 hours to go through 15 ears of history in replica in 15 minutes, having 4 1/2 seconds to view each exhibit. So, to the initial donators of the American Freedom Train, General Motors Corp., Kraft Foods, Pepsi-Cola Company, and Prudential Insurance Company, your efforts were admiral but disastrous.
